

Selectmen Explore 'Fly-Speck' Accounting

The Board of Selectmen resolved some of its financial differences with the School Committee Monday night, but continued its feud with the Finance Committee over that group's recommended cuts in the town manager's budget.

Two weeks ago the board withdrew from the town meeting agenda a School Committee bonding question, which would pay for some $650,000 in deferred teachers' salaries - calling it an "accounting fiction."

This week, after receiving a list of cuts totalling $145,977 from FinCom - on top of the $181,552 they had already lopped off their own 1974-1975 budget, they tagged FinCom's process of "clipping $10 here and there," "fly speck accounting."

They especially questioned cuts in the "office supply" columns, in addition to FinCom's simply "putting in a whole lot of additional cuts at this late date" - three days before FinCom is to publish the recommended budgets.

Selectman Alan French said he hoped the Board and FinCom could get together on many of the items before Town Meeting, and he suggested asking FinCom to include the Selectmen's proposed cuts in a column alongside FinCom's, in the published budget on which the line by line votes will be taken at town meeting.

Earlier in the session, School Committee Chairman Frank Griggs had helped to clear the air over the bonding question, and the Selectmen voted to put it back on the town meeting agenda.

They had withdrawn it two weeks ago by a 4-1 vote, with then Chairman Roger Collins dissenting.

TRIKING OFF down Andover streets - and getting quite a lot of attention while she does - is Mrs. John W. McCarthy of 7 Marion Drive, proud owner of a new three-wheeler. "Everybody's all excited about it," says Mrs. McCarthy, who had never ridden a bicycle in her life. Now she pedals off to church, or to her brother's in Ballardvale, or just for the exercise - all the while saving on gas, oil and pollution. It's the first three-wheeler registered at the Andover Police Department and, as Mrs. McCarthy says, it gives people something different to talk about than Watergate.

Lewis Named To Succeed Ober

The Andover Board of Selectmen Monday night approved the appointment of John Lewis as veterans agent for Andover, replacing Elmer S. Ober who is retiring.

Lewis who came to Andover via the Emergency Employment Act, has served in several assignments in Town Hall, and has been in charge of the recycling program.

While "not saying anything against" Lewis, Mr. McKittrick of Walnut Ave., asked if the job had been publicly advertised.

A veteran who has lived in town many years, McKittrick said that he thought it was unfair to persons like himself and others who might like to have applied.

Austin said that it had not been the town's practice to advertise, but to promote within where possible.

The Selectmen also approved the application of Marinel Transportation Inc. of Chelmsford, to use I-495 and I-93 in Andover, to bus Raytheon employees between plants.

While approving of the intent of the service - to transport employees at no charge and ease the energy crunch, the Selectmen did ask the firm to withdraw application for an alternate route - Route 133

Officials In Visit To Plants

Eight local officials visited resource recovery plants Tuesday as part of a Greater Lawrence tour conducted by the regional solid waste study committee.

The area officials visited plants in east Bridgewater and Holliston as part of their overall study of the Greater Lawrence solid waste problem.

Attending from Andover were Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and Assistant Manager Sheldon Cohen, Selectmen Edmund Sullivan and Mrs. Janet Lake, Planning Board Chairman Mrs. Margaret Keck, Dorothy Sherrerd and Herbert Oshan of the Industrial Development Commission and Frank Byrne, chairman of the Finance committee.

WHO ME! Mrs. Constance Spatola, 29 Argilla Road, Andover, registers delightful surprise as she learns she was the million dollar winner Tuesday night in Boston. Mrs. Spatola, a federal tax examiner, won the Massachusetts State lottery and said she will put aside some of the money to pay her income taxes right away, as well as her school taxes, various bills and the family mortgage on their home.

Million Dollar Winner

Mrs. Constance Spatola, 29 Argilla Road, is the newest millionaire around, and the first thing she plans to do with it is set aside a hunk - probably about 40 per cent of it - for Uncle Sam.

Mrs. Spatola ought to know about such things - she's been a tax examiner for the Internal Revenue Service for the past six years.

Then says her husband, Alfred, who "followed her around" at Tuesday night's drawing at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel taking pictures, "we still have a mortgage on the house" and two children to think about. Kenneth is a chemical engineer for Union Carbide in Indiana, and Sharon is a freshman in Cornell, majoring in engineering.

Mrs. Spatola, according to her husband, was needless to say excited and thrilled, and spent a restless night Tuesday just thinking about it all. She was one of 118 eligible for the big drawing.

Fuel Adjustment Hotly Debated

John Stevens, public relations director for Mass. Electric Co., left, responds to a question from Rep. James P. Hurrell who called and arranged a public meeting to discuss proposed electric company rate increases Monday night in North Andover.

Area residents armed their legislators with their personal feelings regarding increased rates for the Mass. Electric Co. and debated the fuel adjustment charge with a utility company public relations official at a meeting Monday night in the North Andover Middle School cafeteria.

The meeting had been called by Rep. James P. Hurrell of North Andover, to allow local consumer to air their feelings on the utility costs.

John R. Stevens, of the Mass. Electric public relations department, fielded the questions of the irate citizens for almost two hours.

Hearings on the rate increases were scheduled to get underway at the State House Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Congressman Michael Harrington of Salem, filed suit in Suffolk Superior Court Tuesday, seeking to recover $3.6 million in fuel adjustment costs. Harrington claims the Mass. Electric Co., has overcharged consumers by using the fuel costs at its highest rate during a two month billing period.

Monday night, after area legislators opened the session by pledging their efforts to block rate increases, Stevens informed the group that the increased costs of producing electricity are passed on to the consumer.

He indicated that the fuel adjustment was based on the increased cost of fuel oil, which he said had risen from $2.0 a barrel last July to over $9 in January and some prospective costs of $14 per barrel.

Fluctuation in fuel adjustment cost between a customer and his neighbor was questioned and Stevens said that the cost is pro-rated on the kilowatt hours for which the customer is billed.

Among significant complaints registered with the utility representative and the legislators, was the fact that the costs do not appear to be being passed on to the company stockholders.

Stevens reported that dividends had been decreasing in recent years, but the answer was not satisfactory to the consumers.

A pall of doubtful roars greeted the comment that Mass. Electric operated at an $800,000 loss during January.

Still on the subject of fuel adjustment costs, Stevens told the doubting crowd that the utility was not making money on the cost passed on to the consumer, noting that in the past year the company paid out $29 million in fuel and collected $23 million.

One speaker asked that the company simply arrive at some equity, indicating that in all fairness, there should not be as much as a $100 difference in costs between his bill and the next door neighbor's for the same amount of power purchased.

In response to a question from Walter Hughes relative to the cost of operation of the nuclear energy plant in Plymouth, Stevens said this cost was not reflected in local billings.

Karl Haartz, an observer of the Andover scene, and also public utilities, addressed the group on a bill which will be before the legislative hearings which provides a scale for power use. Haartz said that the problem "was a tough nut to crack," but a problem that would have to be met.

Mrs. Edward Duchesneau of Haverhill, who is heading a consumer group in the fight against increased rates asked the support of those in attendance through signing petitions circulated during the meeting and also attendance at the state house hearings.

Sen. James P. Rurak, of Haverhill, spoke on the matter and assured that he would carry the thoughts of those in attendance to the hearings, as did Reps. Gerard A. Guilmette, Nicholas Buglione, Arthur Sobil and State Senator William X. Wall. Wall in his brief remarks said the utility was getting too great a return and compared the action to the works of Jesse James.

Rep. James P. Hurrell, summed up the feeling of the legislators at the conclusion by expressing appreciation for the attendance and expression of thoughts on the matter. He said the area legislators in attendance were agreed that they would take positive steps to correct inequities in current rate schedules and cost distributions.

Glass To Be Topic

Members and guests of the Andover Historical Society are looking forward to their next meeting on March 21 at 8 p.m. when member Frank Carter will discuss, "Is Glass Just Glass?" For 27 years a scientist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he will also display examples of what is new today in glass research.

Following Mr. Carter's presentation, a colleague, Maurice Capurso, will, by way of contrast, give a live demonstration of artistic glass blowing.

Refreshments will be served by the hospitality committee.

Selectmen

Milton Greenberg, who was returned to the board in the recent election, and who was vice-chairman under Collins, conducted the meeting Monday night, and welcomed the board's newcomer, Mrs. Janet D. Lake. The board had earlier agreed not to elect a new chairman until vacationing Committeeman George Heseltine returns next week.

Griggs said that the School Committee's idea had been to present the question of bonding the deferred salaries over a three-year period at special town meeting. If the Town didn't go for the bonding, he said, then it could subsequently vote to include the deferral in next year's operating budget.

"We have two choices by law," he went on. "We either bond or pay out of next year's budget. I don't think that the Selectmen wanted to add the entire cost of deferrals -- some $650,000 -- to the tax rate."

Greenberg said the board is inquiring into other alternatives, and French added that the Selectmen did not mean to deny the School Committee "the right to let you get the article on town meeting."

"We are not interested in preventing you any options," he said. "The last thing we wanted to do was go to town meeting without hashing this out in advance."

Griggs said the School Committee would prefer to bond the monies over three years, and for the remainder of this year, would try to economize to minimize the amount of bonding as much as possible via surpluses.

He said the best guess now is that they can pick up about $100,000 of the $650,000, in surpluses.

The board had previously expressed a desire to defer the salaries "in perpetuity," and Griggs added Monday night, "If you can find a legal way of doing it, then we'd be happy to be a party to it."

"We'd also prefer to defer forever," Griggs said, adding that legislation that would allow such action has been filed on the state level, but would not offer a way out before the local decision must be made.

French, after noting that the School Committee will take a stand at town meeting -- recommending the bonding -- and that it would be willing to go along with "an acceptable alternative," moved to take the proper steps to return the bonding issue to the town meeting.

Viewed As A Mandate

The team of Griggs and Olesen, winners in Andover's school committee election, intend to work toward the "push back to basics," as they join with John F. Lyons and John G. Wragg, elected a year ago, and now hold a commanding majority.

Griggs, who was re-elected committee chairman last people at bargain prices, instead of adding them prematurely to the nation's trashpiles, -- and at the same time putting thousands of dollars generated by the auction into the town's Free Cash to reduce taxes. The auction also should be fun, the Recycling Committee suggests.

Details about where to bring articles, and about town pickup of larger articles for the auction will be published in the TOWNSMAN. Meanwhile, the Recycling Committee suggests, if it is usable, don't throw it away, save it for the Auction on April 27.

Committee Meets On Wednesday

The next meeting of the school committee will be on Wednesday, March 20 at the large group meeting room of the high school.

The committee has changed its meeting night from Tuesday temporarily. The session is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m.

Systems Due For Review

Public meetings on the Merrimack Wastewater Management Study have been scheduled at the Marshall Middle School Lecture Hall on Floyd Street in Billerica at 8 p.m. April 2 and at Building C of the Northern Essex Community College at 100 Elliott Street in Haverhill at 8 p.m. April 4. They are intended to provide a formal review of the system alternatives as well as to complement the workshops and other meetings about wastewater management that have been held by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission and the Northern Middlesex Area Commission.

Preliminary costs for the

Tuesday night, said he felt the vote was an endorsement of his philosophies and policies of the past three years. He felt it was nice to have a majority for a change, noting his lone vote status of his initial years of service on the committee.

He wants more parental involvement in the schools and a real drive toward getting back to basics, Griggs cited the IMS, individualized math program, as a problem stating he did not feel it was well accepted in the community.

With the endorsement, the chairman feels his record of the past three years has been vindicated. "Often you can't tell. At school committee meeting you get negative reactions. The voters, however, said yes they agree, and it's a good feeling."

He feels that earlier budget preparation next year will be helpful.

As for gaining the majority or the swing to the traditionalist philosophy, Griggs looked at election results as a positive endorsement. "Last year may have been a fluke (The Lyons Wragg election), but this year's results were definite," Griggs said.

wastewater alternative systems developed by the Merrimack Wastewater Management Study will be available at the upcoming public meetings. The alternatives comprise a range of conceptual wastewater management systems that have been prepared to renovate the domestic sewage, industrial wastes and stormwater runoff that have polluted the Merrimack River.

"We are developing the preliminary cost estimates for the study," Colonel John H. Mason, Division Engineer for New England, said. "If they are ready, the costs will be made available before the meetings."

There are six alternatives for the fifteen communities covered by the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission and another five alternatives for the nine member communities of the Northern Middlesex Area Commission. All are based on the State Implementation Schedule for Water Pollution Abatement which calls for secondary treatment plants in Lowell, North Andover, Haverhill and Amesbury.

The wastewater management alternatives include centralized and decentralized water-oriented systems and land application systems for both areas. They are in line with the goals of the 1972 Federal Water Pollution Control

Both Griggs and Olesen agree that there will not be another assistant superintendent of schools in the system. Griggs said he was looking for more efficiency from the administration, with Olesen agreeing that he can not see a need for another assistant to the superintendent.

A salesman, Olesen served three years on the Cambridge school committee and said he would be looking through his files to see if some of the practices there could be brought to Andover.

Olesen said that areas of expediting school committee meetings would be suggested.

He looks forward to establishing a policy of hiring teachers twice a year, such as in the spring and December, for instance. He also wants to discourage the practice of teachers leaving for another position during the school year.

Olesen looks upon his election as a mandate of the dissatisfaction with the Andover school system and that the people do not feel they are getting a proper return for the $1,300 per pupil cost.

He is also looking for firmer discipline within the schools.

Recycling The Tax Front

Andover's new Municipal Recycling Auction, planned for Saturday, April 27, will offer the ultimate in recycling economics -- all the dollars that change hands at the auction will be recycled into the town's Free Cash, which reduces the tax rate.

What will be sold? All the articles which house-holders turn up in spring cleaning and sorting out which no longer are needed, but still are good and workable -- are too big for the red bags and are too good to throw away anyway. We are urged to save old lamps, ice skates, refrigerators, TV's, toasters, furniture, toys and games, grills, suitcases, record players -- everything useful and usable. Each article donated will add its bid amount to the town treasury.

Who is running the auction? Ballardvale's Ralph Sharpe and former selectmen chairman Philip K. Allen have signed on as auctioneers, but the group managing the Municipal Recycling Auction is the town's Recycling Committee, appointed by the Town Manager to coordinate, publicize and explain, the municipal recycling program, and to find the best dollar market for the recyclable materials. Andover's municipal newspaper-glass-can pickup and recycle program is gaining note around the state, particularly now that it has begun to pay its own way, it has drawn interested visitors to Town Hall from UMass and the University of New Hampshire, the city of Malden and others.

The Municipal Recycling Auction will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday, April 27 at the Recreation Park on Abbot Street and will continue until everything is sold. Coffee and doughnuts will be sold in the morning, and hot-dogs, potato chips and cold drinks starting at noon. The playground will be there for children and plenty of room for family picnics.

The Recycling Committee and Town Hall hope to make the Municipal Recycling Auction a great annual town event, an example of the best conservation practice -- putting usable articles no longer needed by their owners into the hands of other

Doherty, West Students Plan Environment Study

Doherty and West School Elementary School fifth graders are preparing to spend the weeks of March 25 and April 1 doing environmental studies in Maine.

West, which initiated the program last year, will send fifth graders for a one-week shift at Ocean Park, while Doherty fifth graders will be heading for the first time, to Spruce Mountain.

Doherty teachers will supervise the program and accompany the students on their field trips, which will be conducted by the professional staff at Spruce Mountain. They will take in tumbling mountain springs, towering pine forests and ancient rock formations and their secrets.

Early indications are that about 90 percent of West's fifth graders will participate in their program at Ocean Park. Last year those who went studied fresh and salt water marshes, marine life, astronomy, forest management and conservation.

They also kept a daily log of observations and activities.

West youngsters are preparing for the program via such activities and projects as rock, leaf and soil collections, weather diaries, map reading, pollution control and self-awareness.

Doherty preparations include specific environmental projects in that school district.

The five Brownie and Junior Girl Scout troops of Bancroft School hosted a Juliette Low Show recently for themselves and their parents.

Junior Troop 49 presented a biographic skit on Juliette Low, the founder of Girl Scouting in the United States.

World Friendship Fund money was given to Mrs. Nina Anthony, Juliette Low Chairman for Shawsheen Valley neighborhood (Andover and North Andover). The money was collected from the girls in each troop after the members decided how much to give. For example, a troop may agree to give a penny for each inch of their height.

The World Friendship money is used to help build friendship and better understanding around the world through Girl Guiding and Girl Scouting by sponsoring international exchange projects in which girls of different countries come together to talk, work, camp and share.

The grid is actually within the tile itself, and there are no bevels, either . . . just one beautiful, continuous pattern from wall to wall.

And the new method makes putting up a ceiling so easy! You don't need any special tools . . . or even to lay out the room. There's no need to level the tile, no furring strips or wasted material. No border tile to cut, no seams to line up. You just drop the ceiling to any height you want, or install it flush to wooden joists or present ceiling. The large 1'x4' tiles go up fast, and the grid just snaps together.

Let us show you the handsome designs today . . . and how to install one in a few hours this weekend.

Ralph Nader To Speak At College

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader will speak on "The Energy Crisis" at Merrimack College in the Perkins Lounge of Gildea Hall on Tuesday, March 19 at 10 a.m. Nader's lecture is sponsored by the Merrimack College Student Activities Association.

Known popularly as the founder and leader of "Nader's Raiders," Nader first gained national recognition in 1965 with the publication of his book, Unsafe At Any Speed.

Born in Winsted, Conn. in 1934, Ralph Nader attended Princeton University where he graduated magna cum laude in 1955. He entered Harvard Law School and earned his LL.B. in 1958. At the Harvard Law School, he served as president of the Law School Record and worked briefly as a research assistant following graduation.

It was at this time that Nader decided to pursue his own research into questions affecting the rights of the consumer. From 1961 to 1963, he was an adjunct instructor in the History Department at the University of Hartford. He then served as an assistant to Assistant Secretary of Labor, Daniel P. Moynihan in the Kennedy Administration. During this period, he also traveled in Europe, Africa and Latin America as a free-lance journalist.

In 1965, Nader published his devastating account of the designed-in dangers of American automobiles, Unsafe At Any Speed. This book along with his celebrated encounters with the automobile industry and his appearances before congressional committees catapulted Nader into national prominence as a consumer advocate.

In 1968, Nader established the Center for Study of Responsive Law and organized a group of young professionals, soon to be known as "Nader's Raiders," to work researching public interest issues. Their research has ranged from air and water pollution, to soil and food contamination, to abuses of health and safety, and to corporate monopolies. Nursing homes, the Food and Drug Administration, and the Antitrust Division of the Justice Department are only a few of the subjects which have become task force reports and then converted into book form for the general public.

Nader has since formed additional organizations such as the Center for Auto Safety, the Retired Professionals Group, and the Corporate Accountability Research Group.

On college campuses, Nader has been actively encouraging the formation of local student consumer groups patterned on the Public Interest Research Group (P.I.R.G.) which he established in 1970 in Washington, D.C. In this realm, Nader has issued a manual for student organizing, Action For A Change, and contends that there are over 350,000 college students enrolled in the P.I.R.G. movement.

Nader's continuing work in automobile safety has been recognized to be in a large part responsible for the 1966 passage of the Motor Vehicle Safety Act, and the demise of the Corvair in 1969. In 1971, Nader in collaboration with Lowell Dodge and Ralph Hotchkiss authored What To Do With Your Bad Car: An Action Manual for Lemon Owners. This book was followed in 1972 by an expanded and updated edition of Unsafe At Any Speed and by Small - On Safety: The Designed-in Dangers of the Volkswagen written by the Center for Auto Safety.

In November, 1971, Nader announced what has come to be known as his "biggest raid": the massive, 1000-man citizen's investigation of Congress. In Fall, 1972, Nader issued the first fruits of the Congress Project with the book Who Runs Congress? The President, Big Business or You? Following this publication, Nader's investigative group issued individual, twenty to forty page profiles of every member of Congress. Nine more books are expected to come forth from the Congress Project in 1973 and 1974.

Ralph Nader's lecture is open to the public and there will be no admission charge.

Democrats Plan Forum At Library

In response to a request from Democratic State Chairman Gordon Martin, asking for suggestions on a forward legislative program, the Andover Democratic Committee has planned an open forum with panel discussions. Two members of the Democratic State Committee will be present to listen to the views of interested citizens. Invitations have been extended to the towns of North Andover, Billerica, Tewksbury, Lawrence and Methuen. Andover citizens are cordially invited too.

The meeting will be held on Thursday evening, March 21, at the Memorial Hall Library at 8 p.m.

Panel discussions on two of the urgent priorities will be held on Solid Wastes and Mass. Transportation. Expertise on solid waste will be provided by Mrs. Dana Duxbury of the Andover Finance Committee, Selectman Clayton Trefry of Saugus, and Alderman Robert Lippe of Lawrence. Frank Byrne, Chairman of the Andover Finance Committee will act as moderator.

A second panel on Mass. Transportation will be moderated by James Sheard. Informed panelists will include Rep. Raymond Rourke of Lowell, Chairman of the Transportation Committee in the State Legislature; Rep. Nick Buglione of Methuen, and Francis Trombley, Sr. of Trombley Motor Coach Services, Inc.

Audience participation will be welcomed on both panel topics, or on any other topic of general concern, as time permits.

The meeting will present an excellent opportunity for any voter to express his views on legislative planning.

AFS Plans 'Dancation' March 30

The Andover Field Service Club of Andover is adding a new twist to fundraising this year. It will sponsor a "Dancation" on Saturday, March 30.

The Dancation (Dance-sensation) is actually a marathon that will feature dances of the '20s into the '70s, will begin at 9 a.m.

Because space is limited, entrants will be the first 40 teens (aged 14 to 18 and enrolled in the Andover School System), who turn up with the most pledges for the A.F.S. treasury.

It will work much the same as a walk-a-thon, with sponsors pledging so much per half hour the dancers stay in the contest.

Many prizes have already been donated by businesses and stores in the area.

All entrants must have a partner - and if the partner is lost, he'll or she will have one hour to get someone on the floor.

Both partners must always keep moving and comply with certain dances and races as they are announced.

A medical attendant will be on hand, but entrants must have written consent from parents or a doctor if they have any breathing difficulties or heart condition.

Spectators are invited.

Tax Forms Available

Are you having trouble locating federal tax forms?

Memorial Hall Library has a complete collection of every federal (but not state) tax form bound in a loose-leaf notebook. There forms may be copied on the library's photocopying machine and the Internal Revenue Service will accept the copied forms as long as they are legible.

Fisherman's Players To Present 'The Passion'

The Passion, a dramatic poem by Richard D. Waters, will be presented by the churches of Andover on Sunday, March 31 at 7:30 p.m., and performed by the renowned Fisherman's Players of Cape Cod, directed by the author.

The Passion is more than another play. It is a deeply moving and inspiring drama designed to create an experience of the life-giving words and deeds of the Gospel. We see Jesus as He might have been seen through the eyes of Pontius Pilate, Mary Magdalene, Judas or Mary His mother.

We sit as His feet as He preaches the Sermon on the Mount. We are among the mob as they shout His own words back at Him and taunt: "He saved others, but Himself He cannot save!" "You who would build a temple in three days, now have nails in your hands. If you are the Christ, come down from the Cross!"

The Passion by Richard D. Waters celebrates the life and sacrifice of Jesus Christ and promises to be an evening that will not soon be forgotten by those who attend.

Tickets may be obtained at any of the cooperating churches: Baptist Church, Christ Church, Ballard Vale United Church, Faith Lutheran Church, St. Augustine's Church, South Church and West Parish Church, or by calling ticket chairman, Edward Ammick.

Produce With Latin Touch

Produce counters are bursting this week with excellent field-grown tomatoes, cucumbers and even strawberries, as the harvest from Mexico pours in, reports the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA).

This is good news for the consumer, but little comfort for the greenhouse growers of the Bay State, as the huge farming operations south of the border get into full swing.

The trend has been expanding in the last decade, as big growers in the U.S. southwest have bought thousands of acres in Mexico and shifted winter operations there. With labor costs lower than comparable U.S. wages, and little or no fuel cost in that climate, the ability to ship fresh, handsome, flavorful and reasonably priced produce even as far as New England is proving to be stiff competition for local greenhouse growers.

Because of high fuel cost and limited availability here, plus the necessary labor costs, our native under-glass crops are being started later than in past years. Our local greenhouse harvest of luscious tomatoes and cucumbers will come in early May, when Mexican crops will be finished.

New England farmers remain adaptable, as one must in this climate. But the greenhouse trend here is down: in 1964, we produced more than one million pounds of tomatoes under glass; last year saw only some 200,000 pounds. Our own bountiful field-grown crops come in August and September, well after the end of the southwest harvests.

Good Massachusetts apples - Red Delicious, McIntosh and Cortland - are available almost everywhere.

Good red peppers and green beans are arriving from Florida, and California citrus are in good supply at reasonable prices.

If you're planning a home garden, buy seed, fertilizer, lime, etc., right now, the MDA recommends, as supplies are short. Onion sets, for example, were non-existent in the wholesale market last week.

Church League Showdown

By Rick Harrison

A winter's worth of hard work all boiled down to one game, with St. Robert's B duelling West Parish A for the Senior Division championship of the Andover Church Basketball League.

The crucial clash was played last night, after TOWNSMAN presstime, and it matched two clubs with identical 8-1 records on the final night of the regular season. The victor takes home all the awards.

The showdown was set up last week in playoff action, which saw St. Robert's B blast St. Augustine A, 58-23, while West Parish A was slipping past St. Robert's A, 38-34.

The loss dropped St. Robert's A out of the title picture with a 7-2 record. They had led the division virtually throughout the season, sweeping to seven straight victories before two successive losses.

In a third playoff game, which had no bearing on the championship, Bible Chapel raced to a 38-20 triumph over West Parish B.

Making The Finals

Joe Terrion, divisional scoring leader with 172 points in nine games for a hefty 19.1 average, poured in 20 this time to practically outscore St. Augustine A by himself.

Rick Collins scaled twin digits again with 10 points, all in the pivotal second period.

Bob Moynihan dunked 8 points, Mark LaLonde and Owen Keegan bagged 6 each and Mark Spire flipped in 4 markers during the last stanza for St. Robert's B.

Trotters Close In On Title

By Rick Harrison

The title-clinching Globetrotters closed within one victory of a perfect season, and the Knickerbockers assured themselves of a second-place finish, as both registered wins in Junior Division games of the Andover Church Basketball League last week.

The 'Trotters' boosted their overall ledger to 8-0, trimming the Bucks 20-10. The Knicks improved their record to 7-3 by edging the Raiders, 14-9.

The final clash saw the high-scoring Celtics conclude their season with a convincing 24-6 romp over the Lakers.

The regular season was slated to close for everyone last Tuesday night, after TOWNSMAN presstime, with two games at the East Junior High.

A divisional All-Star Game next week will wrap up all Junior activities.

Kelleys Combine

The Globetrotters' brother combination of Ted and Dick Kelley proved to be too much for the Bucks, who finished the campaign with a 5-5 overall slate.

The Bucks double and triple-teamed divisional scoring king Ted Kelley in an attempt to spoil the Trotters' perfect record.

However, Kelley still managed to net 10 points. And when he was unable to shoot he passed off to younger brother Dick who chipped in 8 valuable markers.

Greg McDaniel pocketed a single bucket to complete the victors' offense, as they bid to become the first undefeated Junior team.

Mike White continued his superb all-around play for the Bucks, dumping through 7 points to keep his club in contention. Charlie Frazette bagged 3 markers for the losers.

Six Marksmen

The Knickerbockers, who finished the season riding the crest of a three-game win streak, featured six different scorers in the 14-9 conquest of the Raiders.

Dan Kimball powered the attack with 5 points, while solo baskets were hooped by Ken Saliba, Erik Hamel, John Kropke and Mark Bolan. Craig Lebowitz rounded out the Knicks' charge with a free throw.

For the Raiders, who made constant improvement throughout the year, Jim Terrion was the big gun with 4 points. Mike Damphousse and Gonsalo Cabral netted two-pointers, while Tewksbury's Tony Romano converted a charity toss.

Celts' Erupt

The high-powered Celtics, whose 129 points were second only to the Globetrotters' 164, belted the Lakers 24-6 as George LeMaitre, Ed L'Italien and Joe Zemis poured in 6 points apiece.

John Atanasoff chipped in with 4 markers and Chris O'Reilly stuffed one basket for the victors.

The Lakers, now 3-5, countered with two-pointers by Paul Marad, Dave Kirkland and John Kramer.

We want you to have the facts about your electric bill.

In January, oil suppliers raised the average price of fuel oil used by your electric company to $9.70 a barrel. We had no alternative but to pay this price in order to keep our customers supplied with electricity.

This increase in fuel prices by our oil suppliers has resulted in a 67% increase in the fuel adjustment charge on your electric bill. It is the reason why your current bill is so much higher.

It is important for you to know that every cent of the fuel adjustment charge on your electric bill is paid directly to our fuel suppliers. We do not retain any of this amount.

Our Average Cost for Residual Fuel Oil

Since the beginning of the fuel crisis last Fall, the fuel adjustment charge which goes directly to our fuel suppliers has gone up 300%. However, in the past year, your basic electric rate has gone up by only 6%.

We do not like these increased costs any more than you do. However, like all utilities, we have no choice but to pass the added fuel cost along to you. At present prices, the total increased cost of oil to our System would amount to over $176,000,000 (176 million) a year. This is more than 4 times as much as our annual net earnings. Our earnings, which are limited by regulatory commissions, are the minimum amount needed to keep our company financially sound so we can provide our customers with reliable service.

We are doing all that we can to reduce our costs and to lower your electric bills by making the most efficient use of the fuel we now use and by converting to coal at those generating plants where coal can be used. Coal is somewhat cheaper and certainly more available than oil.

We do not complacently accept the present high prices we must pay for residual fuel oil in order to keep you supplied with electricity. We have sent telegrams to both the Internal Revenue Service and the Federal Energy Office requesting an investigation into some of the extremely high prices we have had to pay for residual fuel oil shipments. These shipments were arranged by the Federal Energy Office. We also will continue to shop for lower fuel prices.

At present, we cannot predict when or how much fuel costs will come down. However, be assured that we are doing all that we can to keep our costs down and your electric bill as low as possible under these very difficult circumstances. Your understanding and cooperation will be most appreciated by all of our employees.

West Parish A Takes Lead

Augustine B and St. Robert's A with just two games left on the schedule for each team.

St. Robert's A kept its championship hopes alive with a 21-11 conquest of South B.

St. Robert's B and C made it a high-scoring clean sweep for that church this week, as the 'B' quintet trampled Baptist 49-20 and the 'C' team stampeded past West Parish B, 48-8.

St. Augustine C handed intra-church rival St. Augustine D a 24-12 setback, while revitalized St. Augustine A scored a minor 23-20 upset triumph over South A.

Eighth Straight

West Parish A never trailed against St. Augustine B while moving to its eighth straight win, 34th in the past 35 league starts and 131st during the past six years when the overall record has been 131-12.

West held a precarious 4-3 edge after one quarter, stretched it to 17-9 by halftime and 20-11 after three periods.

Bill Hall was the big gun with 14 points, including 7 in the final stanza. Jeff Rosen bagged 10 points and Pete Newton added 7 first-half markers.

Mike McDonald, Glen Johnson, Phil Harnden and Paul Newton also played well for the league-leaders.

St. Augustine B had a brief two-game win streak snapped. Powering the attack was John Walsh who tossed through 9 points. Paul Sirois canned 4 points, Charlie Heseltine notched 2 markers and Tom Walsh swished a fourth quarter charity toss.

Pete Walsh, Bill Hart and Chris Kelly also starred for the losers.

Hot Second Half

St. Robert's A, racing to its seventh consecutive victory, broke a 5-5 halftime deadlock with an 8-2 third period burst.

Big Dan Bradley once again paced the charge with 8 points, all of which came in the pivotal second half.

Mike Terrior pumped through 4 points for St. Robert's A, while Ben Bram collected 3 markers and solo buckets were delivered by Scott Praetz, Mike Murray and Paul Weitz. Greg Praetz was a defensive wizard.

In the battle of the giants South B's Bob Kilgo came up with 5 points. Single shots were fired in by Rich Caghey, John Sagaser and Tim Plass.

Speedy Rich Marciano also cracked double figures with 12 markers, while Ted Liszewski netted 6 points, Vinnie Keegan 4 and Frank Byrne scooped in a third quarter basket.

Amboian Erupts

St. Robert's B continued to show off a high-powered scoring machine in its 49-20 romp over Baptist. It was only 10-8 after the opening stanza, but St. Robert's assumed control 25-10 by halftime and 37-16 after three quarters.

Recently-returned center John Amboian poured in a season-high 25 points for the victors, including 12 in the final session.

Bob Fitzgerald spearheaded Baptist's well-balanced five-player attack with 8 points. Jim and Steve Rathbun stuffed 4 markers apiece, while Tim Whitton found his shooting eye for a first period bucket and Jeff Parker connected in the last canto.

All-Out Assault

St. Robert's C, the division's top scoring team with a 26.9 per game output, exploded for an 11-0 first period edge and never looked back while dumping West parish B, 48-8.

John McNamara and Carmen Frederico applied their personal 1-2 knockout punch again, netting 19 and 13 points respectively.

Ira Gold arched through 8 markers for the winners. Todd Zimmerman dunked 4 points, Howie Lebowitz 2 and Jamie Lebowitz a deuce.

Countering for West B, now 6-4, were Steve Doherty with 6 points and Gary Johnson a second quarter lay-up.

Other West B stalwarts included Bruce Belbin, Mark Newton and Jody Yameen.

Third Straight

St. Augustine C captured its third straight win, lifting its overall ledger to 5-6 and making it a distinct possibility for a .500 season.

Mark Bedell and Bob Oelwang did the bulk of the damage with 7 points each in the 24-12 decision over St. Augustine D.

Lending a valuable helping hand with 4 markers apiece were Jay Dilorio and Joe Torrisi. Jeff Roy tossed in a first period basket, while Chris Bedell and Bill Caselden contributed hustling two-way efforts.

Steve Morin drilled the nets for 6 second-half points to guide the 'D' offense. Single baskets were garnered by Will Dufresne, Steve Moriarty and Kane Grecoe. Other consistent performers were Jim and John Dwyer.

Gusmini & Paradis

Rich Gusmini and Steve Paradis pocketed 11 and 6 points respectively, showing the way as upstart St. Augustine A secured its second straight win by shading South A, 23-20.

Also picking up the slack in the absence of Charlie Wiseman (injured foot) were Tom Haskard, Dave Gusmini and Bobby Bartley with key two-pointers along the way.

Jim Cunningham contributed several big passes and rebounds for the victors.

South A featured 8 points from Marc Winer, 6 by Jim Gardner, 4 from Andy Cobin and 2 by Marc Robichaud. Doug Taylor was another sparkplug.

Schedule

Games involving the three top teams next Monday night have West Parish A meeting South A, St. Augustine B battling St. Augustine D and St. Robert's A facing Baptist.

Book Review In-Depth Witchcraft Study

Tourist Flowers

By Barbara Wyper
SALEM POSSESSED:
The Social Origins of Witchcraft

By Paul Boyer and
Stephen Nissenbaum

Every school year brings a new group of students to the library to learn all they can about witchcraft - in Andover, Salem, or elsewhere. The facts are thrilling, perhaps more so because many events happened here in our own Essex County, and often inspire trips to the witch houses in Salem. Two associate professors of history at the University of Massachusetts, not content with the facts already known and puzzled by the sudden rash of events in Salem and nowhere else, have published a book which goes far beyond the well-known facts sought by our junior high school students.

Claiming to be the first historians to search the primary records of Salem Village, Paul Boyer and Stephen Nissenbaum present an in-depth study of the social conditions of this early farming village and attempt to establish grounds for the outbreak of witchcraft. The authors uncover many small-town issues which divided the townspeople into factions and often pitted the Villagers against the Townspeople. The church became a political arena and the whole concept of Puritan morality, of the public good versus the private will, was questioned. In addition to moral issues, the growing pains of a rural agricultural community tempted by the fruits of capitalism brought new areas of political and economic strife to the town.

Boyer and Nissenbaum study several individuals in detail as examples of positions and opinions proliferating in Salem in the 1690's. They also offer a collective profile of the witches and suggest psychological reasons why they were singled out by the afflicted women for prosecution.

The authors do not offer a lot of first-hand accounts of trials and accusations, probably realizing that these are available elsewhere. What they offer, instead, is a fascinating glimpse of a small town in New England where all the petty problems and jealousies associated with any small, closely-knit group of people suddenly got out of hand and erupted into the now infamous Salem witch trials.

This book, a Harvard University Press publication, is available now at Memorial Hall Library.

By Polly Bradley

Now that the snows are melting and the crocuses are popping up their cheerful green shoots and courageous snowdrops are already bursting into bloom, it's once again the season of the Tourist Flower.

That's what my father used to call the sparkling white Kleenex blobs and the shiny tin cans which we saw blossoming on the roadsides whenever we went on a vacation.

Out West where we travelled, it is so dry that things take a long time to decay, and the vegetation is so sparse it doesn't hide much mess, so the Tourist Flowers are even more noticeable than they are in the East.

Except in the spring. When all the accumulation of litter which has collected all winter, and which remains unchanged because it's too cold for even the biodegradable to decay, blooms in full glory. Later some will decay and some will be covered by plants, but now it's there for all to see.

It's also easier to pick up right now. No wading through the weeks... no missing a pile of beer bottles under a rose bush... no poison ivy.

So now is the time to organize a litter pick-up in your town.

If you can't organize an anti-litter campaign, join someone else's.

Then maybe the Tourist Flowers won't bloom so profusely next spring.

The Schools

At the first meeting of the school committee with its new majority, so called, Supt. of Schools Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert commented rather significantly, we think, "the community vision of education in 1969, is apparently not the same in 1974 and the school committee should articulate in what direction the system should be moving."

The significance of the comment comes from the apparent mandate of the residents of the community who have changed the format of the school committee.

It is not the first time there has been a change in the thinking, the philosophy, or whatever, as characterized by the makeup of the school committee.

Andover is not particularly notable for its oft-changing majority of various municipal boards and committees. From time to time, the thrust of the majority of the school committee in particular has swung from one faction to another.

In 1974, it would appear that the education pendulum has made the full arc from its position of 1969 and it now rests with the majority to determine the course of public education in Andover.

We do not hold to the foreboding pre-election predictions of what would happen here, should the "traditionalists" gain the upper hand.

The time has come now for performance.

The election is now history. It is time to shunt aside the differences of opinion and carry forward an educational program as expressed by the electorate.

This will fall in the domain of Chairman Dr. Francis E. Griggs, Jr. who is to meet with Supt. Seifert and outline the educational philosophy for Andover's schools in the coming weeks.

Hopefully the direction will be articulated by sometime in May.

Underlying all this, is the firm feeling that despite some lingering doubts due to personal feelings of some in the community, that the Andover school system will survive and continue to serve the youth of the town well. And, despite some probable political or parental obstruction, the youth of the community will continue to be molded into tomorrow's leaders in Andover's public schools.

Suffice it to say, we would just as soon make this the valedictory for the school committee campaign of 1974 and issue a challenge to get on with putting the school system in order.

The Auction

The Recycling Committee is apparently attempting to outdo the state's sweepstakes commission with its innovative ideas, and with equal success.

The group which a year ago urged consideration of a recycling program as both economical and ecological for the community, has had considerable success with the town wide pickup of recyclable items.

It has been a revenue producing program for the community.

Now the committee is planning a more extensive program on an annual basis.

It's to be known as an auction, but could be considered a town of Andover Garage Sale.

Scheduled for April 27 at Recreation Park, the Recycling Committee is asking that Andover residents save all the items they intend to dispose of to be auctioned off in a family carnival atmosphere.

What it amounts to is something that is no longer useable to you might be quite welcome to someone else. With a little luck and the right price, the auctioneer's gavel could fall your way on April 27, while the youngsters are enjoying the park facilities or some of the refreshments to be offered.

And, the town treasury is to be the beneficiary. All funds received will go to the town's free cash account, which is annually tapped to relieve the taxpayer.

Sounds like a beneficial program all around.

Al Ober

It is with regret that we learn of the retirement of Elmer S. Ober as veterans agent, due to reasons of health.

Mr. Ober has handled the office of veterans affairs in Andover well for the past decade, having succeeded Francis P. Markey in the post.

One could easily assume that in a town such as Andover, there is little call for the services of such an agency, which is devoted principally to assisting those in particular need.

But there is an adequate caseload, of which the public is generally unaware. To carry out such work takes a capable, discerning hand to cut through the myriad of red tape to provide the assistance when needed.

In addition to carrying out the work of the office, Mr. Ober has also diplomatically united the town's veterans organizations for annual patriotic tributes on Veteran's Day and Memorial Day.

While assisted in this work by members of the participating organizations, the principal responsibility was his to line up speakers programs and parades.

We join with others in the community in expressing appreciation for his efforts.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Nationally the "streakers in sneakers," are causing campus police to frown, but for one company, the streaker's miles are bringing smiles.

Converse Rubber Co., of which Tyer Rubber in Andover is a division, manufactures basketball shoes and other athletic, recreational and leisure footwear, and has national headquarters in Wilmington.

According to a Converse spokesman, ever since the streaking fad began, there has been an upsurge of sneaker orders from stores in college towns.

The only explanation the spokesman can give is that perhaps the streakers seriously believe what the company claims that "Converse is specified by more coaches and worn by more players in basketball competition than any other shoe."

Could streakers follow suit?

For the benefit of those who are unfamiliar with New England weather, some past history might abate the feeling that winter is over.

In our down the years column this week we note the effects of a terrific March blizzard 50 years ago.

And, this past weekend, weather forecasters in Boston reminded us of two winter storms of a few years ago which deposited 15 inches of snow between March 29 and 31.

Hopefully such matters are just for the history books, except in the north country for the ski buffs.

That doctor's building under construction at Haverhill and High streets may be fostering patients for future tenants.

Based on the theories of one of the prospective tenants who is anti-obesity and anti-smoking, the workmen may be lining up for visits on completion.

Frequent trips by there will give evidence of a rolling kitchen with many workers puffing away and consuming coffee and sandwiches or delicacies.

Andover's Recycling committee has some enthusiastic words for the youngsters at the Sanborn school.

A recycling pilot project was started at the school and met with considerable success, leading the committee to use the "Sanborn Plan" for recycling paper, glass and tin in all public schools in Andover in September.

Applications are now being accepted for admission to the two-year collegiate School of Fashion Retailing at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute.

The program offers an associate degree of applied science, and includes study in merchandising, retail sales, textiles and fabrics, fashion and related subjects. Students are prepared for careers as department managers, fashion coordinators, store buyers, and fashion consultants, and receive paid on-the-job training with cooperative employers in the afternoon and early evening.

High school graduates interested in obtaining complete information should call or write Timothy Wright, Guidance Department, Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, Hathorne, Mass., 01937. This program is tuition free to Essex County residents.

The handicrafts of colonial America will flourish in the steel and concrete environs of Boston's Prudential Center during Plimoth Plantation's month-long preview for its annual Spring opening.

The showing is a two-part program opening March 18 in the lobby of the 52-story Prudential Tower Building. The first two weeks (March 18 through 31) will feature the Pilgrim Village. April 1 through 12, Plimoth's new Wampanoag Indian Village will be highlighted.

Professional craftsmen and native Indians, who are among the very few today perpetuating what were once common skills, will demonstrate coopers (better known as barrel making), thatching, fence making, mat weaving, fish netting, embroidery and decorative porcupine quillwork.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - March, 1899

Several residents have protested an increase in the price of a loaf of bread. A loaf from any of our fine local bakers now costs 5 cents and is indeed, we feel a bargain, considering the rising cost of flour and the need for the bakers to make a decent living.

The local plumbers, in an advertisement, call to the public's attention that they are not increasing their prices, having purchased sufficient supplies before recent cost increases. They will respond to your calls on request with competitive prices.

The school board has organized for the year and elected J. Newton Cole as its chairman. The committees are made up similarly to that of a year ago with some of Mr. Odlin's work reassigned.

The board of selectmen at its organizational meeting with William Goldsmith being elected chairman and John Stark as secretary. Selectman Boutwell was in attendance after narrowly escaping serious injury when struck by a team in front of town hall.

The Andover Village Improvement Society at its annual meeting reports its treasury now has a total of $436.18, with $58.69 invested in the savings bank in investment funds.

50 Years Ago - March, 1924

Cost of the county hospital and water for the thirsty in the North district, particularly the school children, will result in at least a $3 increase in the tax rate.

A severe March blizzard, worst storm of the winter, halted traffic Monday and delayed Boston trains several hours. Schools were closed and town crews had a difficult time battling the drifts.

David B. Lawson was elected chairman of the school committee and Frederick E. Cheever secretary at an organizational meeting. Members were assigned to special subcommittees covering finances, teachers and buildings and grounds.

Philip L. Hardy is the new chairman of the Board of Public Works, with Arthur T. Boutwell as secretary. Frank L. Cole was appointed superintendent and George Dick assistant.

25 Years Ago - March, 1949

The Board of Public Works this week awarded the contract for the construction of the Central street bridge to the Atlantic Steel Co., of Winthrop for $12,444.44. Bourdelais Brothers of Andover, second bidder, was rejected since their proposal was $164 higher.

The snow removal cost for this winter is about $9,200 which is at least $20,000 lower than in previous years.

The selectmen have voted to accept Dale street, Dwight street, Shipman road and West Knoll road. The board has turned down temporarily, Marwood drive, Cornell road and Castle Heights road.

Residents of Pine, Elm street, Burnham and Dufton roads, will meet in Fred Cheever's office on Main street to map plans for Article 41 in the town warrant which deals with sewer assessments.

The police department intends to muster strong support at town meeting for a five day week which will cost approximately 33 cents on the tax rate.

10 Years Ago - March, 1964

A Finance Committee estimate of a $4 increase in the tax rate still appears to be valid.

Andover Milk Price Increase

Due to a change in Federal regulations, which in turn was adopted by the Mass. Dept. of Nutrition it is now possible to serve alternate types of milk with a Type A meal in school lunch.

Because of this change and due to another increase from our milk supplier, the cost of a la carte milk to the student will be $.07 and $.11 to the adult.

As of Monday, March 18 the student will have his choice of chocolate or white milk with his lunch, and the new prices will go into effect on the same day.

Ice cream will again be sold in all schools as soon as the freezers are delivered.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

'A Thousand Clowns'

In two-and-a-half hours of fast-talking cartoonist and playwright Herb Gardner of "A Thousand Clowns" fame, gives us a vignette of New York life - a reeling marriage and a mad apartment village.

Valerie Harper and Richard Mulligan star in this nineteen character play set in a honeycomb of high-tariff apartments. Two school teachers, married to each other and now disillusioned. Dreams of their kid times, tenement history and burning ideals hang like stale cigarette smoke over their almost burnt out marriage. A dozen years. Even a baker couldn't add another. But, friend, be of good cheer. By play's end - Martin and Sally Cramer are together again in their gypsy-like flat, without furniture and now minus squabbling. In short, they rescue each other.

After words, words, speeches, actions, questioning and happenings they get the message. Nineteen comic characters fill this charade. A blustery, wonderful Cabbie (Irwin Corey), a peeping Tom, a nosey neighbor, a sleepy doorman, snooty apartment dwellers, a Southern Jezebel, an urchin who rips off half the "set" and various policemen, derelicts make up this Hieronymus Bosch "Garden of Delights" - Manhattan style.

Don't be scared. The mood is blue. But not the material. No one is unfaithful. All confess their weaknesses. People - after stealing one another's time, emotions and things - repent.

We meet a chastened group at evenings' end.

The expletive - the Lord's name is overdone.

What we have is some restless acting. Presence is uncertain with Valerie Harper.

A load of fans of hers, from her performances in "Mary Tyler Moore" show as the witty, Rhoda Mogerstern fill the audience.

The role of Sally Cramer is no easy one. It's an endurance test for Valerie and will no doubt launder out beautifully - in time.

Richard Mulligan is Richard Mulligan. He frowns a lot. Blank stare. Has his usual big sleepy / intoxicated / alone dramatic scene. A chase by the cops sobers him up - and into the arms of his wife, "Sally."

Activities buzz in the apartment complex. Unique citizens tell us who they are, where it hurts and they cry aloud. It's not a pretty world - this madcap Manhattan. But our friends survive and they get the message: almost biblical - "Celebrate Life - there's time - accept it, use it, appreciate it and I-i-v-e-!"

Share the message yourself. Spread it. Even better see the play and laugh and squirm through East Side adventure. It's a cartharsis. At the Shubert until March 16.

Roberts In Return From Antarctic

Navy Chief Personnelman Francis R. Roberts, son of David R. Roberts of Waverly Road, and husband of the former Miss Mary J. Bernardini of 64 Saunders St., North Andover, returned to his home base, Point Mugu, Calif., after four months duty in the Antarctic.

He serves with Antarctic Development Squadron Six.

During the deployment Roberts helped fly more than three million pounds of supplies to stations on the frozen continent. The missions were in support of the U.S. Antarctic Research Program. More than 15 countries are involved in scientific experiments in Antarctica.

Federal Grant For JOBS

Congressman Paul W. Cronin (R-Mass) has announced a grant of $50,000 to Jobs for Massachusetts, Inc., to create job opportunity for the state's unemployed.

Cronin said that the Economic Development Administration has approved the $50,000 grant to help continue a program of planning to create industrial jobs for the unemployed in Massachusetts. The program concentrates on areas, such as the Fifth District, suffering from long-term unemployment.

Jobs for Massachusetts, Inc., is a non-profit development organization with a board composed of individuals from government and industry. In the past year it has developed a marketing plan to attract new industries.

Cronin said, "This grant is an important step in reversing the trend of unemployment in our area. Jobs for Massachusetts, Inc. was an important influence in Hewlett-Packard's decision to build a new plant in Andover."

The firm will match the EDA grant to meet the $100,000 total cost of operating the program this year.

Audubon Film Lecture

As spring comes, the naturalist finds much beauty and excitement in the changing world about him. In West Side Story: Mexico to Alaska, Walter Berlet has followed the sun up the west coast of North America from the heavy tropical forest growth of Mexico to the Alaskan tundra where the short summer season of the midnight sun soon hints of the long winter to follow. Sponsored by the Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary, some of the highlights of this Audubon Wildlife Film are the macaws and jaguars of the rain forest, the migrating birds of the western fly-ways, the seals, giving birth to their pups on the icebergs of Glacier Bay.

The film will be shown on Thursday, March 21 at 8 p.m. at Masconomet Regional High School in Boxford, Endicott St. exit off Route I-95. Tickets may be purchased at the Sanctuary on Perkins Row in Topsfield or at the door.

A Focus On Photography

The Museum of Fine Arts opens its first original loan exhibition of contemporary photography March 15. 'Private Realities: Recent American Photography' explores the rich imagery in the selected works of ten contemporary photographers from all over the country.

One hundred and thirty photographs, on exhibition in Gallery DD through May 12, represent a departure from the classic documentary tradition of 20th century photography. The Andover-North Andover Go-Getters began go-getting this week - that is, searching for donations for Channel 2's Auction coming up the end of May.

And the gal who's coordinating the local effort, and who's hoping to overshoot the $7812-worth of items donated from Andover last year - is the Lawrence Area Chairman, Mrs. Hal Rubin of Spring Grove Road, Andover.

Actually, Mrs. Rubin says, "Upper Merrimack Valley" is more descriptive, since the area takes in Andover, North Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, Groveland, Georgetown, Haverhill, Amesbury and Merrimack. Together they contributed a total of $19,636.52 in merchandise and cash in 1973.

Serving directly under Mrs. Rubin are "team captains" - including Mrs. Karen Hepworth and Mrs. Barbara DiAdamo for Andover, and Mrs. Cecily Coughlin in North Andover. Then came the Go-Getters.

'Go Getters' Seek New Goal

While the local spots are pretty much filled, Mrs. Rubin says volunteers are still needed in Methuen and Lawrence.

One "untapped source" that Mrs. Rubin sees for the donation of items is the family attic. While most of those donations now come from merchants and businessmen, and from artists and craftsmen contributing their works, she says it's possible that residents have antiques in their attics that they don't want - but that someone else might be happy to pay for.

"Not just second-hand furniture," she is quick to add, but genuine antiques that might, for example, have turned up when an old family home was broken up.

In the past, the way residents have helped out was largely through cash donations - and, of course, through buying items at the auction itself.

Many of the 57 item donations from Andover last year, Mrs. Rubin goes on, were in the form of gift certificates - for rounds of golf, tennis lessons, tuition, clothing, camp, dancing lessons, dinners, vacation weekends and the like.

In addition, local painters and craftsmen donated 13 artworks - three of which were chosen for the special pre-auction art show at the Prudential Center.

This is a very good opportunity for artists, Mrs. Rubin adds, to have their works seen by a large audience.

All of the 32 area chairmen, their team captains and the "go-getters," are invited to a champagne preview of the art show - and are also eligible to participate, along with their husbands or wives, on the air during the auction itself.

While liquor can't be auctioned by law, Mrs. Rubin says, champagne can be donated for the preview.

Mrs. Rubin, who had been a team captain for two years before accepting her present job, served at the auction last year as a "bid runner," - carrying bids from the telephone takers to the bid writers who put them up on the board.

"It's fun - but exhausting," she adds.

Mrs. Rubin was first recruited to work for the auction by a friend - but her interest was already there. "I think a lot of young mothers like Channel 2," she smiles, "Sesame Street," you know, and adds that she and her husband also were both great fans of Channel 2's "Masterpiece Theatre."

Natives of Upstate New York, the Rubins moved to Andover three years ago, via North Andover. Mr. Rubin is a resident manager with Alex, Brown & Sons, stock brokers in Boston, and they have two daughters at Pike School - Jennifer, 9, and Susanne, 7.

While she's never been involved with any other charitable cause "quite like this," Mrs. Rubin has also been especially interested in the "S.S. Hope," on which her brother served as a doctor, the Audubon Society, and UNICEF. In her spare time, she enjoys playing the piano, refinishing furniture, and indoor gardening.

Anyone who hasn't been contacted by a Go-Getter, but wants to donate merchandise, art, or whatever, to the Channel 2 auction, may call her, Mrs. Rubin, says to set the program in motion.

While cash of any amount is happily accepted, she adds that the auction has set a $35 minimum this year on the worth of donations.

"It had gotten to the point," she says, where they either had to set a limit, or extend the length of the auction - which will already run this year from May 31 to June 8.

The auction provides about one third of the revenue for the running of the publicly funded station, perhaps most well known, in addition "Masterpiece" and "Sesame," for "The Advocates," "Bill Meyer's Journal," "The French Chef," "Evening at the Pops," "ZOOM," and for the Watergate and other hearings.

Donations to the auction are tax-deductible, she goes on, and businesses get the bonus of being mentioned twice on the air, first when their item comes up for auction, and second, when it is sold to the high bidder. Last year the viewing audience totalled more than a million.

The Lawrence Area made an admirable showing last year, Mrs. Rubin adds, despite the fact that an "all-out effort" for the auction here only started three or four years ago.

On the other hand, she says, many towns nearer Boston, have been involved for most of the auction's nine years.

Anniversary Of Postal Union To Be Celebrated

The 100th anniversary of the Universal Postal Union will be celebrated locally March 23 and 24 by SOPEX, the annual bourse and show sponsored by the Samuel Osgood Stamp Club, at the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical School, Andover.

The U.S. Postal Service and UN Postal Departments are expected to attend with their latest stamp issues.

The UPU, which is now a specialized agency of the United Nations, was formed by a treaty of 22 nations meeting in Bern, Switzerland, in 1874.

Each member nation now sends to Bern a certain number of every new stamp issued, and the samples go on to each member country so they can alert their postal workers. The Union also determines if a stamp is too near that of another member, and should be changed.

The first movement toward an international agreement was started by U.S. Postmaster-General Montgomery Blair in 1863, though England had started a stamping system to prove prepayment of mail, in 1840.

In 1862, in the middle of the Civil War, Blair invited every nation in the world to an international discussion in Paris to solve problems of mail crossing foreign borders.

Fifteen nations responded, and later went home to try to get something "official" passed by their governments. Heinrich von Stephan, of North Germany then proposed a postal union plan for all nations, and that proposal brought on further negotiations. They were interrupted, however, by the Civil War, and the Franco-Prussian War, and the talks didn't resume until 1873, and end until 1874.

The nations who signed that first agreement were Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Egypt, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Romania, Russia, Serbia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and the U.S.

Vanilla, a Mexican orchid, is a vine that needs much rain but blossoms only during a dry spell. The yellow flowers last one day and are hand pollinated for commercial purposes. The pod ripens in ten months, and the aroma develops only during the curing process. The Spaniards called it vainilla (small pod) because they could not pronounce the Aztec name, tlilxochitl, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.

St. Robert's To Present 'A Nite To Remember'

For the first time since its founding in 1960, St. Robert's is coordinating a full evening of enjoyment which promises to be the greatest social and theatrical event in parish history.

Spring To Bloom At Boston Armory Saturday

Nine Blooming days!
That's what it will be when the New England Spring Garden & Flower Show opens at Commonwealth Armory Saturday.

This annual festival, which continues through March 24, is nine days of Spring at its best, with over two acres of perfect blooming flowers, plants, trees, and shrubs.

All the colors of the rainbow are included - yellow daffodils, pink azaleas, red roses, purple African violets, orange begonias, blue crocuses, and all of Nature's shades.

And the mixture of the colors make the garden settings simply breathtaking. Imagine a pink and white flowering dogwood tree with bright red azaleas at its base, or hundreds of Spring flowering bulbs growing on the edge of a flowing brook.

The Flower Show is always more than an exhibition, but really a joyous experience requiring the Flower Show visitors to use all of their senses. They can enjoy the smell of Spring, including the beautiful aroma of blooming gardenias, or the feel of Spring, touching everything from fuzzy gloxinias to prickly cacti.

It is also an educational experience, with demonstrations, literature to take home, and many experts on hand to give free answers to gardening questions.

Apartment dwellers and homeowners alike can learn how to care for their houseplants, do flower arrangements, and even landscape their backyards!

All the newest horticultural trends and techniques are included. One exhibit will even demonstrate how to grow vegetables inside the house year-round, and another will show how to grow herbs for cooking.

In essence, the Flower covers the entire horticultural alphabet from A to Z - aescynanthus to zygocactus, and has something in between of interest for every member of the family.

In addition, one entire section of the show will be devoted to all the equipment and supplies needed by the home horticulturist, and a sidewalk cafe will serve meals throughout all show hours.

Sponsored by the Mass. Horticultural Society, the Flower Show will open Saturday, March 16 at noon, and continue that day to 10 p.m. Show hours for the remainder of the nine blooming days will be: 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, except Sundays, 1 to 8 p.m.

As a special feature, the Horticultural Society will sponsor a special free shuttle bus from the Boston Common Underground Garage to the Armory throughout all show hours on the weekends and after 6 p.m. on weekdays.

All proceeds of the show benefit the many civic and education programs conducted by the society, a non-profit membership group founded in 1829.

The Commonwealth Armory is located at 925 Commonwealth Avenue, and is easily reached via the MBTA's Green Line, which stops right in front of the main entrance to the show.

The oldest and largest continuing exhibition of its kind in the country, the Flower Show has been presented since 1870 by the Horticultural Society, which also maintains the largest horticultural library, and prints Horticulture Magazine at its offices, 300 Massachusetts Ave., Boston. In addition, the society offers a number of courses, classes and lectures; and sponsors several other smaller exhibitions, such as the Rose Show, Daffodil Show and the Camellia Show throughout the year.

will be on display at the George Sherman Union Gallery, 775 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.

Petronzio, whose works have been compared to Grandma Moses, came to America in 1912 from San Giovanni, Italy. He has been a barber in Hyde Park, a restaurateur in Beverly, and a dairy farmer in Danvers, his present home.

He started to paint at the age of 64 after a limited amount of encouragement from his son, Frank, a high school art teacher. Frank advised him not to take lessons, but to develop his own style. The first thing Petronzio painted was a surplus of pumpkins from his vegetable stand. "I had all these pumpkins on the stand and I decided that I had to do something with them. Soon I started painting little designs on them - a cart, a donkey, things like that. The kids loved them," he said.

The exhibit runs from March 11-29 and is free to the general public. The George Sherman Union of Boston University is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday-Friday.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

There will be no relief from sky-rocketing electric light bills if the power companies continue using nuclear power.

Experience has shown that when a power company "goes nuclear" it immediately asks for a rate increase, since nuclear power creates many special costs which would not recur if only non-fission energy is used.

Consider just the extra costs for repair.

Consolidated Edison of New York admitted that it took 7 months and 700 men to repair a pipe at its atomic power plant in 1970. In order not to exceed radiation exposure limits, every qualified welder in the Con. Ed. system had to be used. Said Con. Ed. President, "A similar repair effort if made on a conventional plant would have required 2 weeks and would not have involved more than 25 men."

Savings from a moratorium on nuclear plants would include:

1. Extra cost of having to dismantle 800 radioactive plants at end of their 40 years' service.
2. The Budgets-40 yrs. at least, required to build and operate Federal, State and local monitoring networks for radioactive pollutants.

The mother was Barbara Cot, R.N.

WRIGHT - A daughter, Melissa Amy, March 11, at Lawrence General Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, 185 Greenwood Road, Andover. The mother was Martha Sweetser.

WHITNEY - A son, March 10 at Hale Hospital, Haverhill to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whitney, 381 Bradford St., North Andover.

WORKMAN - A son, Brian Roy, March 4, at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. David Edward Workman, 9 Lovejoy Road, Andover. The mother was Ella Theresa Neagle. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Neagle, Richmond, Va. and Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Workman, Allentown, Pa. The family includes David, six and one half; Chris, four and Cara, two and one half.

GRAY - A son, Charles Patrick, March 6, at New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gray, 79 Summer St., Andover. The mother was Carole Nikonchuk.

Although man has put the lemon to more uses than any other citrus fruit it was Greek to the ancient Greeks who never heard of it. Originating from central or eastern Asia, the lemon was carried by the Arabs to western Asia, north Africa and Spain around 1000 A.D.

What Our Readers Say

3. The Budgets - 40 yrs. - at least - for A.E.C. licensing, regulatory and litigation staffs.

4. The huge "contributions" from the taxpayers for the nuclear breeder research and demonstration plants.

5. The huge "contributions" from taxpayers for the insurance against nuclear accidents.

6. The huge costs of improving and expanding uranium enrichment facilities.

7. The costs of extra cooling towers.

8. The costs of storing atomic wastes forever.

The President's Office of Science and Technology concluded in 1972 that if solar development programs are adequately supported, synthetic fuels from organic materials could reach public use in 5 to 8 years.

A giant investment will have to be made in the many safe energy systems - solar, geothermal and modern coal technology anyway in order to supply the bulk - 75 per cent - of U.S. energy which nuclear fission cannot provide even by 1980.

Since non-fission energy sources could easily do the whole job without any contribution from fission, the extra expenses of fission should not be tolerated.

A nuclear power moratorium would protect the American life, property and national security from the hazards of nuclear fission power plants.

See Dasher, The Newest Volkswagen, At Park-Hegarty VW

Volkswagen is now introducing the perfect car for its time - the new Volkswagen Dasher, displayed here by Henry Wrigley, your Andover sales representative at Park-Hegarty Volkswagen, 248 Haverhill Street, Methuen. See him soon and take a test drive in this exciting new answer to the gas and economy problems.

The new Volkswagen Dasher does everything you want a car to do, and does it on about 25 miles per gallon. That's why it is the ideal car for today. Dasher does a powerful 0 - 50 in only 8.5 seconds. It seats five people comfortably.

It has front-wheel drive and gives you control you've never felt in any conventional car. For example, Dasher has the amazing Skidbreaker which prevents skidding under the most adverse conditions. It needs maintenance at only 10,000 mile intervals. And it is covered by the Volkswagen Owner's Security Blanket. Nobody else is even close to Dasher, a new kind of Volkswagen!

Park-Hegarty Volkswagen offers the VW Computer Diagnosis you've heard so much about. One half of the most advanced automotive check-out system is already built into every new Volkswagen. The other half, the Computer, in the hands of experts at Park-Hegarty, can tell you what's right or wrong with vital parts of your car. You get the results quickly, accurately and in language you can understand - plain English. This Computer Diagnosis system is the most technical, most automated check-up a car can possibly have.

See the new Dasher, and all the Volkswagen family at Park-Hegarty Volkswagen's beautiful showrooms at 248 Haverhill Street, Methuen, your local headquarters for Volkswagen
